

Clinical Veterinarian

Job Offer

AnaPath Research

AnaPath Research is a CRO located in Barcelona, with extensive experience in carrying out preclinical trials for pharmaceutical laboratories, the chemical industry and other research organizations. In our more than 30 years of activity we have worked with the main pharmaceutical industries being part of different multinationals (RCC, Harlan and Envigo). In November 2019, AnaPath Services acquired the company and re-founded it as AnaPath Research, thus undertaking together a new project of scientific quality and close contact with new and old sponsors.

With a multidisciplinary team of scientific experts, AnaPath Research covers most fields of pre-clinical pharmaceutical development and chemical and food safety.

Department

The Veterinary Services Department provides services mainly to the General Toxicology area of AnaPath Research in terms of animal care and welfare, as well as experimental procedures in which veterinary advice or execution of specific experimental procedures is needed.

Given its service-oriented approach, our work is closely linked to that of other departments such as Animal House and Clinical Analysis.

As part of a company certified by AAALAC since 2016, we strive to make animal welfare a priority in our daily work and actively contribute to making it a reality.
